'What Is Permaculture Gardening An Intro to Permaculture

May 1st, 2020 - Conventional gardening tends to use a one-size-fits-all method for growing food. Its central concepts are based on what gardeners want to grow rather than on what plants best suit a particular piece of land. Permaculture gardening, on the other hand, is based on the concept of using the perfect plants for the climate and utilizing only what's available.
